 - I found the lectures to be very rigorous and comprehensive, covering all key aspects of the subject. The main question will be the level of depth required in the final exam. If the exam remains manageable, I believe this will have been an excellent course overall.
 - It was a very important course, showing the main econometrics methods and the various tests we use to choose models and improve identification. The technical aspect was intimidating at first but the professor and TA helped it be approachable and allowed me grow in this sense. I did grow intellectually. The material was quite dense at times but the slides were formatted well so that independent study and review was also effective.
 - This course was very productive and helpful

2. Please write comments below considering qualities like encouraging students to participate actively in class, using time efficiently, good use of examples, available and able to answer questions. Other comments are also welcome!
 - He is clearly very knowledgeable about the subject he is teaching. However, at times, I felt that he went into too much depth, beyond what we were adequately prepared for.
 - There was always a good use of examples, showing the code to perform some regression or test and then actually running it in R to show the results.
 - Professor encouraged students to participate actively in class, he had good use of examples and he was able to answer questions
 - Teacher was very professional and approachable for further questions
 - Professor was explaining the hard material very professionally. The only drawback of the class was that it was at 8 am in the morning.
